

Moving Underwater

The particles of dust float
In the shaft of sun
My head is empty of thought
Knowing that you're gone

The sadness you gave covers everything
I try to believe I'll see you again

I'm moving underwater
In an empty room
My head is tight, my eyes sore
Crying, missing you

The sadness you gave covers everything
I try to believe I'll see you again

Beneath the soil is flesh and bone
But you'll live on within my soul

© P. Fisher